

John Wroan's construction company built the first and the latest Illinois State University student union, Horton Field House, Stevenson Hall, The Baby Fold, and most of the banks in Bloomington-Normal. The job he might have enjoyed most was building University High School, simply because he graduated from U-High back in the days when classes were held all over campus and in the old Metcalf building.